Clifford R. Rowley was born in Mare Island, Vallejo, California in 1942. Deafened at the age of one from influenza meningitis, he attended the New York School for the Deaf in White Plains from K-12. He learned American Sign Language (ASL) there and has utilized it since then. In 1965 he graduated from Gallaudet University, Washington, D.C. with a major in Chemistry. His professional experience is working for Lonza Group R&D in Annandale, New Jersey as a research chemist and engineer for the past 34 years.

Cliff met his wife, Nancy, now a Gallaudet graduate, when they were on the Gallaudet swim team. Both competed at the World Games for the Deaf in Helsinki, Finland in 1961. Cliff and Nancy wed in 1964 and have two children, John and Amy. A special education landmark case, which involved their daughter, appeared before the United States Supreme Court in 1982, Board of Education vs. Rowley. Two books pertaining to this court experience have been published: Amy, The Story of a Deaf Child, by Lou Ann Walker, and A Case About Amy, by R. C. Smith.

Cliff’s strong leadership and volunteer work have been instrumental in establishing numerous programs. Cliff became a key player in founding New Jersey Deaf Awareness Week, Inc. He served as President and Chairman of Deaf Fest and is currently the Treasurer. All Deaf Fests have been well attended, with thousands of people enjoying the free, all-day event, featuring exhibits, crafts and professional entertainers. The mission is to increase cultural pride of the New Jersey Deaf and Hard of Hearing and heighten awareness of Deaf culture among the general public. At New Jersey libraries, performances such as storytelling, mime, and shows are presented during the annual celebration of Deaf Awareness Week, which falls on the last full week of September.

In past years, Cliff has served as Vice President of the New Jersey Association of the Deaf, Inc. and as Coordinator of the Telecommunications Committee, where his work was important to the establishment of the New Jersey Relay Service in 1992. He has been President of New York/New Jersey Phone-TTY, Inc. since 1981. Nationally, Cliff served as President of Telecommunications for the Deaf, Inc. from 1977 to 1979.

Cliff is Secretary and a member of the Board of Trustees of the New York School for the Deaf. He has served on the board since 1991 and has been Secretary since 1995. One of his many successful projects was building a new library with full communication access, which opened in January 2000.

Hallmarks of his achievements are his seamless fluency in communicating with two languages – ASL and English – and his advocacy of increased public recognition for ASL. In his honor, a gift of over 200 ASL videos was provided to the Morris County Library in January 2000. "The Clifford R. Rowley American Sign Language Video Collection" was funded by the Northwest Jersey Association of the Deaf, Inc. and the Higgs Family Foundation. The collection was prepared and delivered by ASL Access, a non-profit organization with a mission for placement of ASL media in libraries.
American Sign Language (ASL) is a unique and complete language. Deaf and hearing people use ASL for everyday communication, access to information, education, and artistic expression. And now ASL is coming to public libraries!

ASL Access partners with interested public libraries – with your help – to put ASL videos on the shelves.

ASL Access has created a collection of more than 200 ASL videos. Qualified deaf and hearing volunteer reviewers helped choose the videos. ASL Access places the collections in selected public libraries.

ASL Instruction Videos
The large majority of deaf children have hearing parents. ASL Access Video Collections serve these families, as well as countless other learners of ASL, with dozens of teaching videos.

Deaf History Videos
Videos trace the history and describe traditions of the Deaf Community.

ASL Literature Videos
ASL poets paint the air. Storytellers entertain. Classic literature comes alive in ASL.

Informational Videos in ASL
With public libraries as a point of connection, deaf people all across America meet in virtual visits, using ASL to talk together like neighbors over a fence. Children swap funny stories. Deaf parents offer advice. Deaf Ph.D.’s debate. ASL signers offer a hand up to those who learn best with ASL. Information becomes accessible through ASL.

You can make a difference!

Support ASL Access today. See a new world tomorrow.

ASL Access is a volunteer, 501(c)(3) tax-exempt, non-profit organization.

People Are Talking About ASL Access

“I would like to express my support for this project. Being deaf myself, and involved in deaf education for over 25 years, I know well the great need to get sign language into the hands (so to speak) of deaf children and their parents as early as possible in the child's life. Early exposure, to the only language that a deaf person has full access to, is crucial for that person's educational, personal, and social development. And from a quarter century as a professional librarian, I know how well-suited public libraries are as community resources for this type of outreach, being located in all types of communities, large and small, urban and rural, serving all types of people...”
- Thomas Harrington, Reference & Instruction Librarian, Gallaudet University Library, Washington, DC

“Parents realize the importance of early language development. When (they decide) to provide visual communication to their young children they soon discover that sign language classes alone are not enough ... Project ASL Access will allow people to go to the library and help themselves to ASL videos, finding a rich repository of visual communication resources . . .”
- Sandy Harvey, Executive Director, American Society for Deaf Children

“My husband and I have a young deaf daughter approximately one year of age. We have chosen to teach her American Sign Language. During the past year, we have taken course work and hired tutors to teach us sign language. However, we have found that these do not meet all our needs and the needs of our daughter. On numerous occasions we have searched local libraries for ASL materials, but very few are available. Even fewer videos are available for our daughter who would love to enjoy literature and movies in her primary language. Her grandparents also find it difficult to learn ASL in Ohio because even fewer resources are available. After reading ASL Access’ goals, we fully support your efforts and know other parents would appreciate them also.”
- Eric and Susan Lengel, Virginia

“ASL Access’ campaign to donate ASL videotape collections to libraries across the United States is a significant humanitarian effort. Sensitivity and awareness from the general public of issues, needs, and cultural norms of the nation's deaf community will be greatly enhanced. Employment, education, and integration into the general mainstream will emerge more as meaningful and gainful factors for the deaf citizen’s opportunities to enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. We congratulate ASL Access for its vision and commitment for this important project.”
- Claude L. Stout, Executive Director, Telecommunications for the Deaf, Inc. (TDI)

“It is a well known fact that the majority of deaf and hard of hearing children are born to hearing parents, and that many of these families also reside in small communities with limited exposure to American Sign Language (ASL) deaf and hard of hearing adult role models. Therefore, distribution of ASL-based videotapes and related materials through our nation’s public library system is a wonderful way to ‘get the word out’ to the public.”
- Elizabeth Pollard, President, National Association of the Deaf
How To Communicate

by Christine Wixtrom

The Deaf American, Fall 1988

©1988  Reprinted with permission.

1. ESTABLISH POSITIVE COMMUNICATION GOALS:
   ♦  I want to “hear” and “see” you - to UNDERSTAND WHAT YOU SAY.
   ♦  I want to SHARE MYSELF - my ideas and feelings - WITH YOU.
   ♦  I want to GIVE AND RECEIVE CLEAR MESSAGES.
   ♦  I want to ENJOY TALKING WITH YOU AS A UNIQUE INDIVIDUAL.

2. RESIST THE TEMPTATION TO USE YOUR STYLE OF “COMMUNICATION” AS A SHIELD, A SWORD, OR A BANNER:
   ♦  Don’t talk without taking time to listen.
   ♦  Don’t use “communication” to dominate and manipulate others, forcing them to use the method of communication, language, grammar or vocabulary choices that you prefer.
   ♦  Don’t try to promote your preferred method of communication as The One True Way. (Instead, do demonstrate flexibility and tolerance by allowing each person to express and receive communication as he or she prefers.)

3. SHOW CREATIVITY:
   ♦  If your first attempt to communicate fails, try another way!

MATERIALS REQUIRED FOR SUCCESSFUL SIGN LANGUAGE COMMUNICATION

1. WILLING HANDS
   You can do it! The main requirement is willingness, not manual dexterity, perfect hands or talent.

   People who face all kinds of barriers have learned to sign, including those with arthritis, cerebral palsy, missing fingers, big or small hands. Just remember that it may take some time for you to learn to feel comfortable using hands, face, and body to talk.

2. AN EYE FOR UNDERSTANDING
   If you demonstrate a positive attitude, you will have success. An attitude of respectful interest is far more important than fluency.

   Most of us are not used to depending on our eyes to capture fleeting information. But “reading” sign language is a skill, like any other, that can be practiced and learned. Rather than striving to see every sign, relax and just try to get a general idea of what is being said. Don’t be afraid to ask for clarification.

3. AN OPEN MIND
   Most importantly, keep an open mind about communication strategies. There are many ways to communicate. It doesn’t much matter HOW communication happens. Do whatever you can to “make it happen!”
What Is Sign Language?

by Christine Wixtrom

The Deaf American, Summer 1988 (Updated July 1998)

That's a good question! There are many types of gestural communication, and sometimes the term "sign language" just doesn't make it clear which form is being discussed. Here are a few brief explanations to help clear up the confusion.

FINGERSPELLING, OR THE MANUAL ALPHABET
Fingerspelling is a method of representing the letters of the alphabet with the hand. Forming different shapes with your hand, you can spell out words such as: “H-O-W A-R-E Y-O-U?” Manual alphabets are not languages; they are visual codes for languages. The one-handed American Manual Alphabet is a code for English. (A two-handed manual alphabet is used in Europe.) There are different manual alphabets used to code different languages.

AMERICAN SIGN LANGUAGE, OR AMESLAN, OR ASL
ASL is a visual-gestural language. ASL developed in a natural manner, as a means of clear visual communication used among deaf people. ASL was created by deaf people and belongs to their culture, Deaf Culture. Today, ASL is used by millions of Americans and Canadians of all ages. The units of ASL are composed of specific movements of the hands and arms, eyes, face, head and body posture. These movements, or gestures, represent concepts and serve as the "words" of the language. Precise syntactical rules and grammatical principles dictate proper ASL "word" (sign) order, tense indicators, intonation and other aspects of ASL language use. The grammar of ASL is completely different from (and unrelated to) the grammar of the English language. Linguistic research has shown, however, that ASL is as "rich" and "complete" as any spoken language.

MANUALLY CODED ENGLISH
(MCE may also be termed SSS, Sign Supported Speech, or SSE, Sign Supported English)
There are a number of signing systems that were artificially devised in order to teach English to deaf children. MCE systems use manual signs to represent English visually. Signs used in these systems may be taken from ASL, but these vocabulary units are used to represent English words (rather than to represent concepts, as they do in ASL). Some new signs are contrived (invented) for English words or word parts in these systems. All signs are used in English grammatical order. Thus, these forms of manual communication are not languages - they are systems. Using one of these manual systems along with spoken English is a method of communication called "simultaneous communication" (or "sim-com"). Some MCE systems: Seeing Essential English (SEE1), Signing Exact English (SEE2), Linguistics of Visual English (LOVE) and Signed English (Bornstein, et al.).

PIDGIN SIGN ENGLISH (PSE, or CONTACT SIGN)
When some ASL signs, some newer signs, some contrived signs and fingerspelling are used in flexible grammatical order, this is referred to as Pidgin Sign English. (Recent research has determined that "contact sign" is a more accurate term.) PSE is not a structured system, but a natural mix of two languages, ASL and English. One of the varieties within this category is Conceptually Accurate Signed English (CASE). Users of CASE will choose a sign on the basis of its meaning in ASL, rather than on the basis of its sound or spelling in English. The signs are used in English grammatical order, and may be accompanied by English mouth movements. (Note: Persons transferring someone else's spoken language into an English-like signed format are said to be transliterating. This is in contrast to the conveyance of a spoken English message into its equivalent in the language of ASL - or an ASL message into English - which is called interpreting.)

PANTOMIME
Pantomime is not "sign language." Pantomime is not a language at all. Pantomime includes motions, gestures and dramatics used to communicate. It is used in theatre, and between people who do not share a common language.
